VMU : Vytautas the Great

Grand Duke of Lithuania

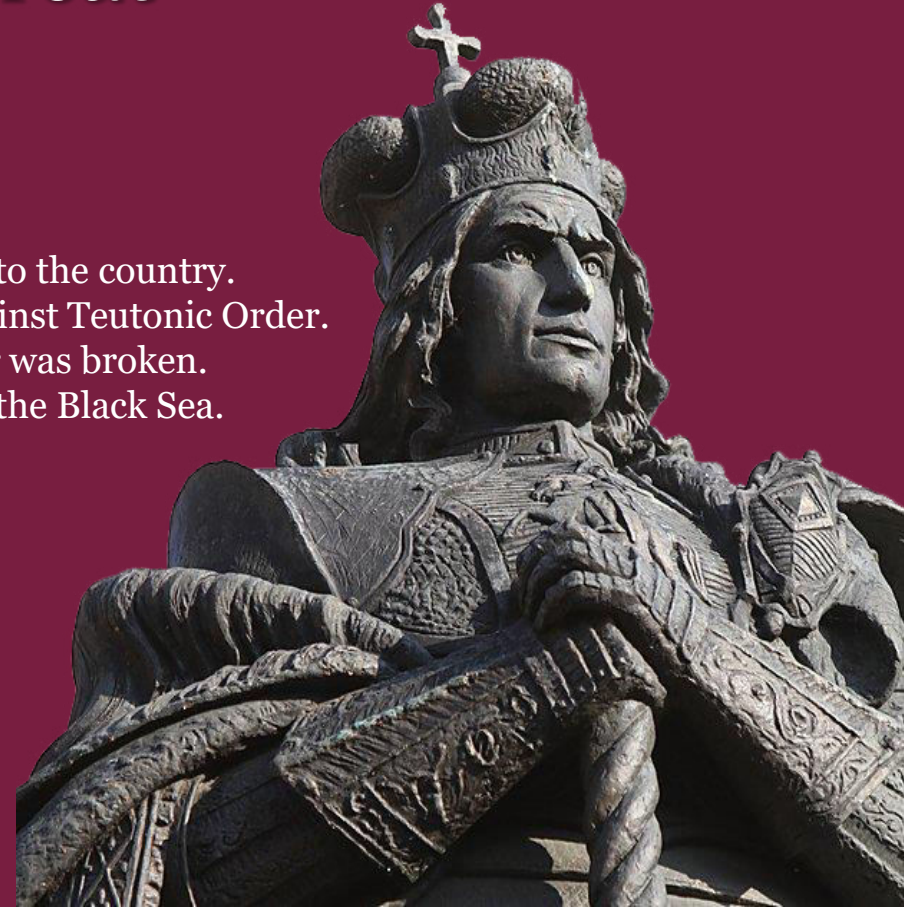

He ruled from 1392 to 1430.

He brought the greatest military and political prosperity to the country.

In 1410 he won the Battle of Grünwald (Tannenberg) against Teutonic Order.

During his reign the push eastward by the German Order was broken.

He extended the state border all the way to the shores of the Black Sea.

Agricultural University of Athens (Γεωπονικό Πανεπιστήμιο Αθηνών)

AUA was founded in 1920 and is the 3rd oldest University of Greece; however, it is the first in agricultural studies.

It offers 5-year degree study programs on a semester basis.

AUA has 2 Schools and 6 Departments

School of Agriculture, Engineering and Environmental Sciences

- ❖ Crop Science
- ❖ Animal Science and Aquaculture
- ❖ Natural Resources Management & Agricultural Engineering

School of Food, Biotechnology and Development

- ❖ Food Science and Human Nutrition
- ❖ Biotechnology
- ❖ Agricultural Economics and Rural Development

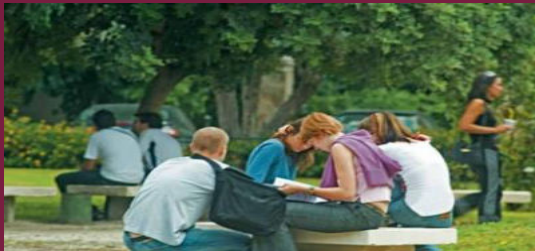

Why choose AUA for Erasmus+ studies ?

Incoming Erasmus+ students can attend a wide variety of subjects taught in English in each Department.

The Department of Natural Resources Management & Agricultural Engineering offers subjects only on demand (e-mail to European_pr@aua.gr for the list of requested subjects).

- Incoming Erasmus+ students can carry out part of their graduate thesis or do their practical training at one of the 42 well organised departmental laboratories.

Additionally incoming Erasmus+ students

- can attend “Greek as a Foreign Language” (2 ECTS) and “English for Academic Purposes in Agriculturally Related Topics” (2 ECTS) for free at the Foreign Language Centre of the University;
- are provided with a Student Identity Card, a Restaurant Card and a Library Card, valid for the period of study at AUA;
- are supported by ESN (Erasmus Student Network) AUA Athens.

To qualify for Erasmus+ studies at AUA a student should

- ✓ be fluent in spoken and written English (B2 language level or higher);
- ✓ be at least in the 2nd year of studies (if undergraduate).

L-Università ta' Malta

The University of Malta traces its origins to the founding of the Collegium Melitense which was set up through direct papal intervention in 1592.

After the expulsion of the Jesuit Order from Malta in 1768, Grandmaster Pinto appropriated all the revenue accruing from its property on the island with the aim of establishing a “Pubblica Università di Studi Generali”.

The decree constituting the University was signed by Pinto in 1769, having been authorised to do so by the papal Brief “Sedula Romani Pontifici”. Following the 2nd World War, the Library and support structures were strengthened.

In 1968 the new campus at Msida was inaugurated.

Universidade de Évora

The University of Évora was the 2nd University to be established in Portugal.

After the founding of the University of Coimbra in 1537, the need for another University to serve the South of the country was felt.

Évora, ecclesiastical metropolis and temporary residence of the Court, immediately emerged as the most suitable city.

Cardinal D. Henrique, interested in teaching issues, founding the College of the Holy Spirit (Colégio do Espírito Santo), entrusting it to the newly founded Society of Jesus (Companhia de Jesus).

When the work on the building was still underway, the Cardinal asked Rome to transform the College into a full University.

With the consent of Pope Paul IV, expressed in the Bull “Cum nobis” of 1559, the new University was created.

Since the 2nd half of the 19th century, the Lycée of Évora was installed in the noble henriquine building.

In 1973, by decree of the Minister of Education, José Veiga Simão, the University Institute of Évora was created, which was extinct in 1979 to give place to the new University of Évora.
