About 6.000 Alternative Media Resources
Over 236.000 electronic journals
More than 130 databases

Local, interlibrary and digital loan

Local loan service allows you to borrow a copy of a book from the library for a specified period of time.
Interlibrary loan service allows you to request a book from other Italian and/or foreign libraries if it is not available in any of the university's libraries.
Digital loan service provides access to e-book collections through a dedicated platform.

Document delivery

The document delivery service allows you to receive print or digital copies of journal articles or parts of volumes that are not available in the UniPa libraries.

Reference

Reference is a set of information and consulting services aimed at satisfying the information and knowledge needs of users in person and remotely, through the messaging service Ask a librarian.

In every library librarians offer:

- basic orientation regarding the use of research tools
- support provided to PhD students and professors for their specialized research, also in terms of advice related to the creation of specific research products
- consulting for the preparation of research products.

Training

In the library users can participate in training activities, face to face and online, organized to promote awareness and knowledge of available tools, services, and resources. Different levels of training are provided to meet the specific needs of users.

In support of teaching, the 'Information Literacy' course, with recognized ECTS credits, is available for students of some degree programs. It is delivered on the university's e-learning platform.

Plagiarism prevention

The University of Palermo supports authors in the process of writing academic contributions. Since 2022, it offers a service of plagiarism prevention to the university community, through a dedicated software, that allows to:

- Check a document's originality (thesis, scientific article, etc.)
- Guarantee and protect the quality and authenticity of academic writing
- Self-evaluate the documents produced
- Consciously use sources, while respecting the quality and originality of scientific work.

Support to research

Libraries support the academic community in the dissemination of scientific products. Librarians provide assistance to authors on matters concerning:

- The concept of authorship/intellectual responsibility
- Ethical aspects and integrity of scientific research
- Strategies and criteria for choosing where to publish research products
- Technical and organizational aspects of the editorial workflow
- Technical and regulatory parameters regarding the self-archiving of scientific research products by authors
- The implications of bibliometrics in the evaluation of scientific products.

To experience libraries

Libraries organize events to promote culture and knowledge and carry out innovative projects.

They involve students of all ages, teachers, scholars, institutions, and citizens in a climate of transgenerational dialogue and exchange, with the goal of fostering cultural and social growth and development.

As part of their "Public engagement," librarians also promote reading education activities in collaboration with schools and social assistance organizations, literacy projects on the use of libraries, and initiatives in partnership with local cultural associations and the Municipality of Palermo.
