Overview of New Texts for 2019

In the course of 2019, we have added seventy-eight new works to the database, as well as making five works available in a new edition. Included among these additions are fourteen authors and ten works classified under their titles, while five authors' corpora have been enriched with supplementary works. Furthermore, the dossier of the carmina of Paulinus of Nola has been rearranged according to the new edition published by F. Dolveck. This reorganization has led to the removal of seven titles; at the same time, however, we have added sixteen new entries and have also made modifications in four other dossiers. In addition, we have made extensive corrections to the anonymous Liber praefigurationum Christi et Ecclesiae following a new reading of the manuscript. We have also been granted the authorization to include into the dossier of Augustine's Sermones ad populum thirteen sermons attributed to the bishop of Hippo Saint Augustine, according to the text published by Cl. Weidmann in CSEL 101. Finally, we have been able to complete the references to Master Eckhart's Expositio libri Genesis. As of December 2019, the LLT-A therefore contains some 2.19 million additional words. As a result, the current version of the LLT-A allows scholars to consult more than 85.34 million words across 4,216 works.

Before this most recent update, the authentic carmina of Paulinus of Nola in the LLT-A followed the CSEL text, published by W. von Hartel in 1894. From this update onwards, we make use of the new edition, published by F. Dolveck, which has brought numerous structural changes to the dossier. Key among these changes is the fact that the Ephemeris — until recently associated only with Ausonius — is now considered to be a collaborative work by both Ausonius and Paulinus. The last letters to be exchanged between the Burdigalian poet and the bishop of Nola — the so-called Ultima commercia — are given particular attention.

In the dossier of the Letters of Augustine, the text of the epistulae numbered between 1 and 139 has been replaced with the text from the new edition, which K.-D. Daur started to publish between 2004 and 2009.

As with many works from the Vandal period, the writings of Vigilius of Thapsus have not hitherto received the attention that they deserve. Back in 2012, we added to the database the Solutions obiectuum Arianorum (published in volume 49 of Sacris Erudiri by Pierre-Marie Hombert, in 2010); with this update, we have now added Hombert's critical edition of the Contra Arrianos, Sabellianos, Fotimianos dialogus, which was published in the Series Latina of the Corpus Christianorum in 2017.

Back in 2017, we began the gradual process of adding the Ordines Romani to our database. Now we continue with the ordines XII to XIII D. The ordines XII offers, in its various forms, a list of those biblical books that should be used in the readings of the nocturnal offices across the course of the liturgical year. The recension D of ordo XIII takes us up to the eleventh century.

The journal Sacris Erudiri, which is well-known among theologians and historians, regularly publishes Latin texts that either have not been critically edited or that would otherwise require the production of a new edition and in-depth study. Starting from 2019, the LLT-A spring updates will insert those Latin texts that were published in the previous year's volume of Sacris Erudiri. The LLT-A spring 2019 update includes those Latin texts that were published in volume 57 of Sacris Erudiri. These texts include an anonymous Lamentatio published by T. Haye (a poem that draws a parallel between the fate of Thomas Becket, the archbishop of Canterbury martyred in 1170, and that of archbishop Stephen Langton, who was living in exile at the time of the poem's composition), as well as a previously unpublished profession of faith, together with a letter, which have both been attributed to Alcuin by Dr W. Pezé. We also added a corpus of texts of Spanish origins that has been transmitted as a kind of 'preliminaries' to Gregory the Great's Moralia, and that can be found in several pre-tenth-century manuscripts; and finally, a critical edition of the anti-Manichaean treatise De fide contra Manichaeos, which has been attributed to Evodius of Uzalis, a friend of Augustine.

<CAPITULUM I DE PROTESTATIONE FIDEI CATHOLICAE>

Guillelmus de Ockham - Tractatus de corpore Christi

cap. : 1, pag. : 89, linea : 3

Stupenda supernae munera largitatis ad reparationem generis humani eidem impensa ipsum suo Redemptori magnifico obligant in immensum: unigenitus siquidem Dei Filius, substantia nostrae mortalitatis assumpta ut nos a diabolica servitute redimeret et pristinae restitueret libertati ac tandem ad caelestem perduceret hereditatem, semetipsum in ara crucis redemptionis humanae pretium immolavit.

Guillelmus de Ockham - Tractatus de corpore Christi

cap. : 1, pag. : 89, linea : 10

Ut autem tanti muneris in nobis iugis maneret memoria, ac pro nobis qui quotidie labimur Christus quotidie mystice immolaretur, corpus suum in cibum et sanguinem suum in potum in Eucharistiae sacramento sumendum fidelibus dereliquit, cuius ineffabilis altitudo humanae indagini subici dignatur.

Guillelmus de Ockham - Tractatus de corpore Christi

cap. : 1, pag. : 89, linea : 14

Propter quod de isto summo et excellentissimo sacramento cum omni timore et modestia est loquendum, quia circa nullum sacramentum est error periculosior nec inquisitio laboriosior nec inventio fructuosior.

Guillelmus de Ockham - Tractatus de corpore Christi

cap. : 1, pag. : 90, linea : 18

Pronde de isto altissimo sacramento aliqua brevia conscripturus protestor me nihil asserturum nisi quod Romana tenet et docet Ecclesia.

Guillelmus de Ockham - Tractatus de corpore Christi

cap. : 1, pag. : 90, linea : 20

Quaedam autem philosophica inserenda et universaliter quaecumque dicenda, quae non sunt per Romanam Ecclesiam authenticata, non temerarie approbando sed tantum recitando causa exercitii et veritatis inquirendae cum omni humilitate et modestia explicabo, correctioni quorumcumque peritorum catholicorum orthodoxorum, quorum interest, me subiciens et exponens.
