

Palermo, Italy, December 2023

EATCS 2023 council elections statement

I am honored to have been nominated for the EATCS Council elections, and I would be happy to contribute to the EATCS.

I think EATCS must be the reference association for all the European researchers working in theoretical computer science, but also for all people interested in developing new ideas towards solving emerging computer science problems in the European society. For this reason, I am therefore committed to develop initiatives that increase services (especially web services) for all the members, and, more generally, initiatives that increase the visibility and the prestige of EATCS.

Gabriele Fici
Associate Professor
University of Palermo, Italy
gabriele.fici@unipa.it