

16SM&MS16

The conference aims at bringing together friends researchers to share recent developments on theoretical and numerical problems involved in modelling static and dynamic response of structures in presence of uncertainties in structural materials or in the loads.

The conference is organized in cooperation with AIMETA (Italian Association of Theoretical and Applied Mechanics).